PROJECT SUMMARY

Hatimeria developed a progressive web application using PHP technologies including Symfony and Doctrine. They continue to provide support for the platform.

PROJECT FEEDBACK

The team at Hatimeria has been organized and timely in their delivery. They've implemented changes and updates based on beta testing to improve the platform. Their structure and workflows are impressive.

The Client

Introduce your business and what you do there.

I'm the co-founder of a startup. We have a marketplace website where users can interact directly with each other.

The Challenge

What challenges were you trying to address with Hatimeria?

We hired them to design and implement our website platform.

The Approach

What was the scope of their involvement?

We worked on some of the UX design ourselves and gave them a sense of what we wanted. Their team did coding for the front- and backend. It's a progressive website app. We used three services that are directly connected to each other. They used PHP for the backend, and the skeleton of the application is based on Symfony 3.4 and uses Doctrine PHP libraries.

What is the team composition?

We worked with a couple of program managers, and we also interacted with several people working on the front- and backend.

How did you come to work with Hatimeria?

I found them through Upwork a few years ago. I spoke to their Swiss representative. We had started working with another company, but it wasn't working out which is why I reached out to Hatimeria.

How much have you invested in them?

We've invested about €220,000 (approximately $259,279 USD).

What is the status of this engagement?

We started working together in December 2017, and the work is ongoing.

The Outcome

What evidence can you share that demonstrates the impact of the engagement?

I don't have any quantitative metrics to share. However, we did beta testing in a local market in Switzerland. We redesigned a lot of the website based on the feedback we received from that experience.

How did Hatimeria perform from a project management standpoint?

They're well-structured and have good tracking systems available to keep the project organized and remain transparent. Overall, deadlines were met.

What did you find most impressive about them?

Their structure and workflows are impressive. It keeps things from getting lost during the project.

Are there any areas they could improve?

Occasionally, we ran into the same issue more than once and had to have them fix it again. However, at the same time, there are a lot of moving parts.
